To the Rural Patrons.

Now in these beautiful golden autumn days, the most beautiful of all the year, we have but to only open our eyes to behold what wonderful things our Heavenly Father has bestowed upon us and how he has so wonderfully blessed us in all our undertakings, and all our efforts have been so abundantly crowned with success. Our houses are filled with the comforts of life. Our cellars filled with everything that is good, and our barns and our cribs are filled, so great has been his blessings untold. Then how appropriate that we have one day set apart as Thanksgiving day when all our people from every land gather together to sing praises unto him, who has so bountifully satisfied all our wants, and while we are thus rejoicing over our triumphs we must not forget those who have not been so fortunate. Then we should not only be thankful for our blessings, but we should be thankful for the opportunity and privilege of remembering those who have so greatly aided us in our progress. I speak now of the Rural Carriers. And, Brother Farmer, if there ever was a time to show our appreciation for the MANY, MANY favors given us by these trusted servants, this is the most acceptable. So don't you think it would be appropriate on this Thanksgiving day for each and every one to remember their mail carrier with something, say a sack of corn or a sack of oats, and then something for the carrier's family. See how it would help if each one would do this, and do you think it would hurt the carrier's feelings? Well, I think not, and I believe he would show his appreciation in more ways than one. So now, neighbors, what do you say? Let's all fall in line and remember the day, and remember our friend who is always ready to favor us, the mail carrier. Telephone your neighbor and make this a day long to be remembered by both patron and carrier.

A FRIEND OF THE MAIL MAN.

Suit for $17,000 Against the Burlington.

D. A. Gelvin and his son, Ernest, through their attorney, B. Raleigh Martin, of St. Joseph, filed suit against the Burlington Railway, before E. A. Dunham, clerk of the Circuit Court of Holt County, Wednesday of this week. Nov. 20th, for damages, caused by sparks from an engine setting fire to their blue grass pasture, August 10, 1912, and also burning the hoofs and legs of a number of cattle that were in the pasture. D. A. asks for $14,000 damages, and Ernest $3,000.

Mrs. Belle Cottrell-Miller, a former Oregon girl, was here for a brief visit, this week, with former friends. It has been 12 years since she was here. She will be well remembered by many of our citizens, as also will her husband, who was in the ministry, and located at Omaha, Nebraska, and later engaged in railroading, his first love. They are now located in Portland, Oregon, where Mr. Charles Miller, her husband, is in the employ of the Oregon & Washington railway.

Big Land Sale.

One of the biggest land sales ever conducted in Oklahoma is now on and will continue in various Oklahoma counties until December 23d. 900,000 acres of unallotted Indian land in the Choctaw and Chickasaw nations are to be disposed of at this sale, which will be conducted by the federal government. The sale offers the last opportunity to purchase on any large scale Indian lands from the government.

J. George Wright, commissioner of the Five Civilized Tribes, has announced the places and dates of the sale together with regulations governing the purchase and these maps and detailed information will be furnished free to those making application to the office in Muskogee.

When the lands were allotted to the Indians of the Five Civilized Tribes of former Indian Territory there was a large residue in each nation that was not taken and this is to be disposed of at the sale in the Choctaw and Chickasaw nations.

Some of the land contains valuable timber, but most of it is valuable for agricultural or grazing purposes. Some of the land, of course, is not first class, but many of the tracts compare favorably with the best land in the communities where located.

The land is located in twenty-two counties and the portion located in each county is to be sold at public auction at the county seat. The government reserves the right to reject any bids. No bids can be made for any fractional part or subdivision of any tract advertised, nor will a bid for the minimum price listed be considered. Not more than 40 acres of land may be sold to any one person, this maximum limit to include Indian lands may have bought previously at government sale. Bids of prospective purchasers may be submitted through agents, but such agents must present and file power of attorney properly executed by the real person interested.

Twenty-five per cent of the amount of the purchase price must be paid at the time the bid is made and the balance bearing 6 per cent interest, may be paid as follows: 25 per cent in one year and 50 per cent in two years from date of sale, but the entire amount may be paid at any time.

All bids will be accepted subject to approval by the secretary of the Interior and upon such approval a certificate of purchase will be issued which will entitle the purchaser to immediate possession of the land, but the cutting or removal of timber for commercial purposes and mining or drilling for oil or gas is prohibited until after the entire purchase price is paid.

The county seats where the sale takes place and the dates of sales follow:

Handsome New Farm Homes

Will Klinepeter & Son do not make any fuss about what they are doing, but just the same they are building some handsome country homes. They have just completed an addition of five rooms, closets, etc., for Will Kurtz, of the Woodville district. This will cost Mr. Kurtz about $1500.

They also have the handsome residence of Paul Bueher, of the Union school district, rapidly approaching completion. It has seven rooms, with sleeping porch, closets, porches, bath, toilet, furnace heat and all other modern improvements, with a fine concrete basement, with laundry room, etc. This will cost $3,000 or more.

They also have the frame up for George W. Pollock's new home in the Union school district. This is something new in architecture, here, especially the finishing. It is a regular bungalow, the plans being drawn by a Los Angeles, California, firm of architects. There will be seven rooms, besides bath, toilet, closets, porches, etc. Besides these rooms there is a concrete basement with laundry and other rooms. There are cess pools taking care of the drainage from the entire house. Furnace heat and acetylene lights. It will be one of the finest homes in Holt county when completed. The cost will be $5,000 or more.

Mrs. E. C. Hinde, of Riverside, Cal., is here on a visit with her nephew, T. S. Hinde, and although now 86 years of age is as active as the average woman at 40, and could now beat her nephew in a footrace. She is a wonderfully well preserved woman.

Hearts Beat As One.

Married, at the home of Kooek's Good Clothes, in Oregon, Saturday, Nov. 16, 1912, Mr. Willis Meyer and Miss Anna Evelyn Seltz, both of Glenwood, Iowa. Elder R. H. Dawson performing the ceremony.

This excellent couple are holding official positions in one of Iowa's Public Institutions at Glenwood, and concluding to plight their fate quietly and without display, slipped away and came to Oregon.

On their way to the court house they were attracted to Kooek's store by the attractive show of his window display, and on entering the store they were so cordially received that they at once made known the purpose of their visit. Mr. Kooek at once made all the necessary arrangements for a pretty little wedding at 3:30 p. m.

Business was suspended for the time being, and after the ceremony, congratulations were in order. They left for their home as happy and delighted as any customer would who had purchased a clothing outfit.

Annual Mum Show and Flower Sale.

The 16th annual Chrysanthemum Show will be given at the Court House, Oregon, Mo., Nov. 21 to 23, 1912, inclusive.

We have added many new varieties to our collection of flowers, and we invite all lovers of flowers to come and enjoy them with us.

We also invite those who are not lovers of flowers to come; we will be pleased to have you visit with us for a short time, as this will probably be our last flower show, unless we can secure a room for our exhibit next year. This will close our work on this line.

Proceeds of the show will be used for improving our cemetery. In this work we are all interested, more or less. If you have not been in the cemetery for some time, walk over and see what has been done in the last four years; much yet remains to be done.

Season tickets, 25 cents; single admission 10 cents.

Oregon High School Notes.

Sunday evening, Prof. E. J. Powell will give a lecture on "Infidelity," at the M. E. church. He will be assisted by the High school chorus, which will render two very difficult selections, "Gathering Home" and "Anchored." At the close of the lecture the chorus will sing, "Abide With Me," and magic lantern slides will be shown.

The High school seems to be down to serious work now, most of the pupils report three hours home work, and all know they work harder than any preceding year. The Freshman class are practicing in algebra; the Sophomores are studying the Rise of the Papacy in M. M. History; the Juniors and Seniors are finishing Cicero's First Oration. Much more unity is shown between the classes. When the Freshmen put their pennant on the wall, all the classes cheered and the yell was led by Graham Moore, the High school yell-master.

The High school will give a box supper next Tuesday, November 20. The place has not yet been decided upon, any one desiring to know this may ask any of the pupils. We promise every one present an enjoyable evening and plenty to eat. We will show one hundred magic lantern slides, which have never been shown in our city. A short program will also be given.

The Juniors are working faithfully at their play; it will certainly be worth seeing when they give it.

The boys' athletic room is finished; it adds much to the modern equipment of our school building. They now have shower baths and individual lockers.

Miss Sadie Collins, of St. Joseph, is visiting here, the guest of relatives and friends.

The Forest City Canning company broke its record this year, having made its smallest pack in the 15 years of its existence—corn, 4,597 cases; tomatoes, 1,784 cases and pumpkin, 529 cases. Mr. Watson, the superintendent, tells us the cause was the long, dry spell of May, June and July. The tomato crop was simply ruined by the dry season, while the corn matured for packing, was only about a 30 per cent crop. It was a bad season for our packers in this section.
